We are Democrats and believe in equal rights to all. Recognizing the centisman's priority right to the DOPE business our democratic policy leads us to the belief we have a right to buy goods in every part of the world and sell them cheaper than any other store in the state and that is what we expect to do. Now I don't want my friend to set all frizzed up and accuse any one of trying to take his dope. Do you all remember a little while ago he talked loud and long about the wholesale business? I felt a little like he was infringing on my wholesale business but owing to that plank in my platform, equal rights to all. I entered no protest. Do you remember platform, equal rights to all I entered no protest. Do you remember the teachings of his dope for the past 60 days? Isn't it something like this? "The Germans will back up and prices will go lower."

What do you think? How can you have any confidence in Dope? Heally believe he means all right and when his car comes in go up and trade a little with him so he won't get peeved. Of course, we have from one to three cars on the track all the time and if you

Mail Order Concerns Teach Farmers a Lesson.

All Order Concerns Teach Farmers

a Lesson.

In an artice callied "Marketing by Parcel Post." Farm and Fireside prints this passage:

"There is a big lesson for us farmers to learn from the mail order concerns,' commented Enns. They know where to buy merchandise at a reasonable price, and, what is more important, they know how to sell it. Selling such a large amount of things by mail in 1915 and the first of 1915 wasn't an accident. These people did it by studying the needs of farmers, using order-pulling advertisements in farm papers, by filling orders promptly, and by giving good values.

"While the marketing problems of farmers differ from those of the mail order houses," continued Enns. The Conditions in the trenches were dreafter the darket our maintary meat market and cur high standard groceries and give the trenching and long-continued rainfall, but the irrepressible spirits of the "pals" were not wet entirely quenched when the order came to leave the trenches.

"Hurry up out of this, my galiant sodden men.

"Soldiers," was the cheery call of the sergeant to his waist-deep and rain-sodden men.

"Soldiers," came the derisive answer from one of them. "I'm not a solders; I'm a blooming bulrush!"—

Escaped the Submarine,

GALVESTON, Sept. 8.—The British as farmering the promptly to our business, principles that made the mail order firm a winner apply to our business. We farmers aren't worrying as much about production as we are about selling what we raise. We are not worrying now about marketing our sheep or hogs; other vessels which had remained in Jutiand battle.
